LEARNING STRATEGIES

COURSE DETAILS

This is a fast-paced, 8-week online course that is worth 3 credit hours. Students will work through weekly modules filled with activities with fixed deadlines.

Content is related to practicing time management, communication skills, learning strategies, & aligning values with higher education & future goals – all to support success.

This is a great course for any students starting their journey with us at UNM (first-year students, transfer students, returning students), or any students who may need extra practice in these areas or help with credit recovery for the semester. We also offer support with advisement-related questions within the College of Arts & Sciences.
